

STEPS TAKEN TO BUY PARK LAND

City Council Takes 60-Day Option on 30 Acres of Land North of Present Site

DESCRIPTION OF THE GROUND

Written Agreement Provides For Boulevard Along East Boundary
—Permit For K. K. K. Parade

First steps were taken Tuesday night by the city council to acquire additional park land, located north of the present city park, when a proposition was advanced in writing by Mrs. Ione Churchill, trustee, in which the city was given 60 days to reach a decision on the matter.

Several other important matters came before the regular session of the council, and the acquisition of the additional park land seemed to meet with general approval of the councilmen, who are looking forward to the future development and growth of the city in that direction.

The written proposition offers the city approximately 30 acres of land, extending from the northwest corner of Harrison and Eleventh streets, west on Eleventh to Sexton street, and north through the woodland for about 640 feet, to a place designated by an ash tree, and then northeasterly to the cement bridge on North Main street. The other boundary will include the south side of the branch from the cement bridge, on a southwesterly direction, and south to the place of beginning, at Eleventh and Harrison streets.

The city must agree to build a street from the corner of Jackson and Eleventh to the cement bridge on Main street following the east side of the branch.

The option is good for 60 days, and during this time the councilmen will have an opportunity of going into the matter more fully.

Mrs. Allie Aldridge, whose term expires this fall as a member of the city school board, was again re-elected for a period of three years.

Bids for the collection of garbage within the city will be received July 3, and all bidders must accompany their bids with a certified check for $1,000, and provide bond if their bid is accepted.

A request for the use of the streets Friday night was granted a petition signed by "The Organization Committee," in which it stated that the Ku Klux Klan would have a parade. The request that no machines be parked from First to Fifth street in Main street was granted, it being included in the petition for the use of the streets, and the police will be ordered to prevent machines from parking between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m.

The specifications for the improvement of the boiler room at the city water and light plant were approved, and bids for the construction will be received at a special session June 26. The estimated cost of the work will be from $20,000 to $25,000, and includes the raising of the roof and the enlargement of the engine room at the city plant, to take care of the needed improvements.

Railroads were also notified to improve all street crossings that were rough and needed repairing. Attention was called to the delayed building of Willow street, north from the Pennsylvania railroad to Tenth street, as the railroad has complied with their order to build the crossing, but the petitioners have failed to build the street, and the council will urge the street improvement at once.

Mayor Thomas also declared war on speeders and stated that the next automobile collision in front of the Christian church or any place else, would bring all parties into court for a session, and that if the police couldn't arrest the speeders that he would take a hand, and follow up the accidents with arrests.

TO SPEAK AT GINGS

A. L. Gary will speak on the Riley Memorial hospital fund campaign at the meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Thursday evening at Gings.

WHAT PURCHASE OF PARK SITE MEANS

The following statement regarding the proposed addition of thirty acres to the city park is submitted today by a Rushville man who has given the question some study and who is convinced that it would be a wise step for the city council to take.

The tract is covered with some very fine burr and white oak of large dimension, beautiful spreading elms, large maples and one large poplar that stands all alone like a sentinel, also ash and other kinds of timber, which the future generation will have to go to a park like this to see. It also means one of the finest sites for a school, with an athletic field adjoining it on the west and which the city will some time in the near future be wanting.

All of this tract of land lies adjacent to the city and is an extension of the city park to the north.

RESCUED AFTER BEING ENTOMBED 80 HOURS

Three Miners Who Reach Surface of Earth Tuesday Night Ordered to Sleep 24 Hours

MORE THAN 2500 AT SHAFT

(By United Press)

Bicknell, Ind., June 6.—Jim Bertillo, Joe Bernardi and Frank Maherto went to sleep for 24 hours today under doctors' orders.

They were rescued late last night after being entombed for 80 hours in the caved-in New Mine near here.

More than 2,500 people waited at the shaft for their rescue. Jack Ogilvie, head of the rescue crew, said at two o'clock that any time after four the men would be reached.

Sigh followed sigh as hour followed hour and the cage brought only heavy timbers and yellow clay.

The blow of each hammer driving nails into the cage was heard by everyone, so intense was the silence.

"I'll get them out tonight sure!" Ogilvie promised.

At ten o'clock he kept his promise. Frank Maherto, eldest of the three victims, came up in the bucket first. He was wrapped in blankets and supported by rescuers. The crowd, begged by the constable, to be quiet was as silent as if in prayer.

Visit At The White House

(By United Press)

Washington, June 6.—Danger of a serious split in the republican party over the world court has gone, Senator Watson of Indiana said today after a conference with President Harding at the White House.

"There will be a reservation making it clear that the court will not take up the league of nations," Watson said. "Neither President Harding said. 'Neither President enter the league.'"

Watson predicted the court proposal would be approved at the coming session of the senate.

United States Refuses To Permit
Liquor Ban Question To Go
To A Conference

PURELY DOMESTIC QUESTION

Will Refuse To Recognize Jurisdiction
Of Any International Tribunal, It Is Stated

(By United Press)

Washington, June 6.—The United States government has rejected a suggestion that the whole question of bringing liquor across the three mile limit into American waters in foreign vessels be submitted to a national conference on maritime measures.

This government regards the potential conference on maritime law to adhere to its policy without being as purely domestic and will comment.

It will refuse to recognize the jurisdiction of any international tribunal such as the world court, if an effort is made to take the question there.

Notified Of U. S. Stand

Paris, June 6.—The ministry of marine was notified today that the United States is disposed to exercise the widest latitude in enforcement of its ruling against ships carrying liquor inside the three mile limit.

It is probable that some provision may be made which will cover the demand of French crews that American waters, the same as any where else.

However, the ministry has not been informed just how much latitude will be exercised, and whether it is sufficient.

Therefore a cabinet meeting has been called for Saturday to discuss whether the American attitude is satisfactory to France.

"The booze situation is unchanged," he replied. "There are 500 bootleggers to one federal officer."

WETS SEE VICTORY IN VOTE ON REPEAL

Legislative Controversy Over Wisconsin Prohibition Enforcement
Law Reaches Crisis

DRYS PUT FAITH IN SENATE

Madison, Wis., June 6.—The legislative controversy over the repeal of the Wisconsin prohibition enforcement law, reached its crisis today.

Wets predicted victory in the vote on the repeal, scheduled in the assembly at twelve o'clock tomorrow. They prepared to go into caucus tonight to align their "majority" forces in favor of the repealer.

The drys are confining their activities to statements that the upper house will kill the bill and that the Anti-Saloon League will make the wet assistants sweat in the next election.

Meanwhile the anti-prohibitions pointed jubilantly to a letter sent out by State Prohibition Commissioner W. Stanley Smith to his deputies, advising them to take a vacation until July 1, without pay as the $60,000 a year appropriation for his department was all used up. Smith was unsuccessful in getting the legislature to retain part of the fees collected through anti-liquor activities.

STATE TREASURER ADDRESSES FARMERS

Lewis Taylor Speaks On Value Of Farm Bureau And A. L. Gary
Makes Plea For Hospital

WASHINGTON FARMERS MEET

The Washington Township Farm Bureau, which held a meeting at the new Raleigh gymnasium Tuesday night, was addressed by Lewis Taylor, treasurer of the Indiana Farmers Federation, and A. L. Gary of this city.

Mr. Taylor spoke regarding the farm bureau movement and emphasized the social side and the work of the township units. He referred to the changed conditions that the organization had brought about throughout the state and of the value it had been to the members.

Mr. Gary made a plea for the Riley Memorial hospital fund and recited some of the familiar poems of the Hoosier poet.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Carson and Mrs. Alva Eakins, who sang vocal selections. The new gymnasium, which was formerly the church that stood across the street from the school building made an ideal place for the meeting. The church was moved on the old school grounds and remodeled.

A similar meeting will be held by the Jackson Township Farm Bureau Thursday night at Osborne school and an excellent program is being arranged. All farmers in the county, regardless of whether they are members, are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

WILL GIVE AUDIENCE TO LOCAL DELEGATION

State Superintendent Burris Will Meet Rush County Citizens
Thursday Morning

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES TO GO

A delegation of Rush county citizens composed of township trustees and committees from the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Rushville will go to Indianapolis early Thursday morning for an audience with Benjamin J. Burris, state superintendent of public instruction, regarding Rush county's petition to be selected as one of two counties in Indiana where an experiment in rural school management and supervision will be conducted under the auspices of the general education board of the Rockefeller Foundation.

It is now conceded that Rush county has a chance to land the plum, following a visit of Birney D. Farthing, county superintendent of schools, to the office of the state superintendent, Tuesday, when he was given a hearing for Thursday morning at nine o'clock. W. E. Wagoner, former county superintendent of schools here and now assistant state high school inspector, is quoted as saying that Rush county has a chance. The audience with the Rush county delegation has to be promptly at nine o'clock as Supt. Burris has an engagement at ten o'clock.

A number of township trustees have shown considerable interest in the proposal, since they voted Monday to petition the state superintendent to designate Rush county, and they plan to attend the conference.

Germany Offers to Pay Billion and Half Gold Marks Yearly—Methods to Raise Money

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, June 6.—Life of the Cuno cabinet depends on the reception of the new reparations offer now on its way to the allied capitals.

In the face of strenuous opposition from many sides because of failure to reach some conclusion with the allies that will lift Germany's present burden, Chancellor Cuno is understood to have proposed:

1—Payment of approximately a billion and a half gold marks yearly.

2—Settlement of the exact terms to be left to an international conference. Contents of the document will be officially divulged upon receipt by the allies.

It is learned authoritatively, however, that Cuno has proposed the reparations amount be raised in the following ways:

Consumption taxes on such commodities as tobacco, sugar and brandy and a customs monopoly on the same three. These taxes, it is estimated, would provide 400,000,000 gold marks a year.

Tuition of a gold mortgage amounting to 10,000,000,000 marks at 5 percent interest against the railways, yielding 500,000,000 gold marks annually.

Legal mortgages on industrialists, factories, land owners totaling possibly 10,000,000,000 gold marks which it is "contended" would yield another 500,000,000 gold marks.

A special property tax which it is hoped would provide 100,000,000 gold marks a year.

As a safeguard on these sources of revenue the note says the German government reserves the right to provide funds from any other source should any of these mentioned fail.

The note suggests that final settlement of such a great question as reparations cannot be reached through interchange of notes. Hence it is advisable to summon a conference to discuss differences.

TRIAL OF GIRL BANDIT MURDERER PICKED UP

Immaculate Mae Companion With Young Woman Who Killed Insurance Adjuster Arrested

KILLED WITHOUT WARNING

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., June 6.—The trail of a girl bandit, who shot Richard Tesmer, insurance adjuster, to death during a holdup at the Tesmer "gold coast" home, at midnight, was believed by police to have been picked up today.

A man believed to have been the immaculate companion of the fashionably dressed young woman, when she robbed Tesmer and his wife, as the latter couple were putting their car into the garage, was taken into custody. The man, a dancer, was held incommunicado.

Police said Mrs. Tesmer, who collapsed after her husband was murdered, partially identified him over the telephone.

Tesmer was shot by the girl without warning after he started toward his wife to comfort her when she became hysterical at the demand of the girl for her wedding ring.

MILROY SENIORS TO GIVE SCHOOL PIANO

Small Sized Instrument Popular For School Use Presented By Graduating Class

HALF WEIGHT OF AN UPRIGHT

A high-grade, small-sized school piano will be the gift of the seniors of 1923 of Milroy high school to their Alma Mater, it was announced by Vigen Swain, president of the class, a few days ago. The gift was purchased with the proceeds of the class activities which covered all but a small amount. The instrument which is being procured by a local agent, E. H. Lusk, from the Miesner Piano Co., of Milwaukee, is strictly high-grade and built especially for school use.

The piano has the standard keyboard of 88 notes of regular size but has only half the weight of the large upright piano. It can be moved from room to room by two small children and carried up or down stairs easily. A teacher is able to see over the instrument, thus enabling her to direct singing and accompany at the same time. This type of piano has come into extensive use in the schools of the country during the past few years, some city school systems using as many as twenty of them. The piano represents a most valuable and acceptable gift to the school and will yield an untold amount of pleasure and satisfaction to all connected with the schools for years to come, school authorities declare.

REJECTS AID OF

reported that rum smugglers were said to be operating at isolated places, but that the dry agents were active.

Ralph J. Cardinal, mayor of Malone, New York, said that it had been exceptionally quiet in and around Malone since repeal of the Mullian-Gage act.

"Both federal and state men say they have never seen it so quiet as it has been the past week," he asserted. "The same vigilance has been kept up, but no seizures have been made."

Attention was attracted to the border situation when Canada officials reported to Ottawa that the smugglers were showing great activity, due to the Mullian-Gage repeal.

Orders have been issued to state constabulary, however, to continue exerting the strongest efforts to prevent a "booze invasion" from the north.

THE HOME GARDEN

What is Home without a Garden?

PRUNING TOMATOES

In actual dimes and dollars the tomato counts for more in the course of a season than any vegetable grown. Save the tomatoes and you save the dimes. There is one way to save the crop and get the most out of it and that is by growing them trained to stakes. Tomatoes, like their cousins the eggplants and peppers, need all the heat there is to ripen their fruits and the less shade they have the better will be prospects of a crop. Getting them up off the ground gets them into the sun and prevents a tangled mass of vines from shading the fruit and delaying its ripening. They will not produce a full crop when shaded or crowded.

Another reason, particularly in the small garden, in addition to more tomatoes and better quality is economy of space. Left to sprawl over the ground tomatoes take up a lot of room and are impossible of cultivation. Besides, a good percentage of the fruit on the ground will rot, particularly if it happens to be a wet season. A minimum of rot is secured by the method of training to stakes.

The time to start is now while the plants are young and consists of only a single sturdy stem. This will not remain for long for branches will start from the axil of every leaf and if left to itself the plant will soon be a tangle of stems and foliage. A plant allowed to sprawl over the ground needs about four feet of room. It is an easy matter to grow four plants in this same space, trained upright to stakes.

Get stakes six feet long if possible, allowing a foot to be in the ground. They should be set in place before the tomatoes, but if this is impossible, may be placed after the plants are set out, care being taken not to injure the tomato. As soon as the plant begins to send out side branches, which will be very apparent, pinch out all but the main stem and two side branches. The stems should be tied to the stake with strips of cloth, as string is likely to cut them if they are hit by a high wind. They will need frequent tying as the season progresses and the extra side shoots of which there will be plenty should be kept pinched out, allowing only the blossom clusters from the axils of the leaves to develop.

The plant will reach the height of the pole five feet—by July. Then the tips should be pinched out to throw the strength of the plant into the development of the fruit. Care must be taken to keep the branches which will grow rapidly and thickly pinched out. A trained tomato will need to be looked over and tied at least once a week to keep it in shape.

GROWING TOMATOES ON THE BACK FENCE.

Variants of the single stake method are often found more convenient in the shape of trellises. In this case a wire stretched midway of the poles may be used to train the side branches, but care must be taken to eliminate the numerous side branches that will keep springing from the axils of the leaves.

Connorsville—Ten civic and charitable organizations have pledged aid to the day nursery which will be in operation here soon.

Marion—Edwin McCaleb, 35, suffered only a few scratches when a coupe in which he was riding was demolished by a Big Four train.

AGENTS GATHER
AMAZING STORIES

One Sea Captain Tells Prohibition
Man He Landed 200,000 Cases in
New York Alone

MADE $8,000,000 PROFIT

Washington, June 6. —Amazing stories of fabulous profits, of hair-raising adventures, and of battles of wits are gathered by the secret agents of the federal prohibition enforcement service, in their search for the sources of supply from which rum smugglers draw their contraband liquors.

According to one story told prohibition sleuths by a swaggering old sea captain, he had landed 200,000 cases of whiskey in New York alone since he began running the Volstead blockade.

"Believe me, we cleaned up SOME coin," the old fellow said. He estimated the profits of the syndicate he said he worked for as $8,000,000 in one year.

Another rum smuggler, who sneered at the efforts of prohibition agents to stop the illicit traffic, said that the rum runners had changed their base of operations from the Bahamas to a little port on the Newfoundland coast. He told how one rum ship had made a dozen trips from Scotland to the Newfoundland port, carrying thousands of cases each time, and dropping most of it for smuggling across the border. A small portion of each cargo was landed in New York, he said, when the rum ship joined the fleet beyond the three mile limit.

Up to within a few months ago, according to information obtained from the smugglers, most of the contraband whiskey actually was brought in from Scotland. The smugglers bought it there for $10 or $11 a case, and sold it in New York for $45, $50 and $55 a case. One group of smugglers did a $10,000,000 gross business in 12 months in this Scotch the federal agents were informed.

According to one of the smugglers who got confidential with the federal agents, his "syndicate" had a list of 6,000 saloons in New York where liquor is still being sold and the names of 12,000 bootleggers doing business in that city.

The people of the West Indies killed the goose that laid golden eggs for them, a smuggler said, when they began substituting home made "quick whiskey" for the genuine imported stuff and charging exorbitant prices for it. Furthermore, he added, the islands are full of American prohibition "spies" making it difficult for the rum runners to move their cargoes unobserved.

The city council has taken a sixty-day option on thirty acres of land is stipulated in the option that if the city buys the land, it shall construct

The option gives the councilmen

Rushville what their ideas are re-

GOLF SUPREMACY IS GOING FORWARD

American Sportsmen in the Game Are Gaining Foothold on Future Championship Tilts

CONTEST ON NEXT MONDAY

English And American Artists Will Stage Contest For British Open Title Series

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
New York, June 6—American supremacy in the world of golf is slowly but nevertheless surely being established.

Just how far the advance has proceeded will be shown when Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen and Long Jim Barnes tee off with Britain's best professionals at Troon, Scotland next Monday for the British open championship.

The title has become practically Americanized because of successive Yankee victory the last few years. Walter Hagen holds it now. Jack Hutchinson held it before him and now the Americans are counting on Gene Sarazen to go out and get it another year for America.

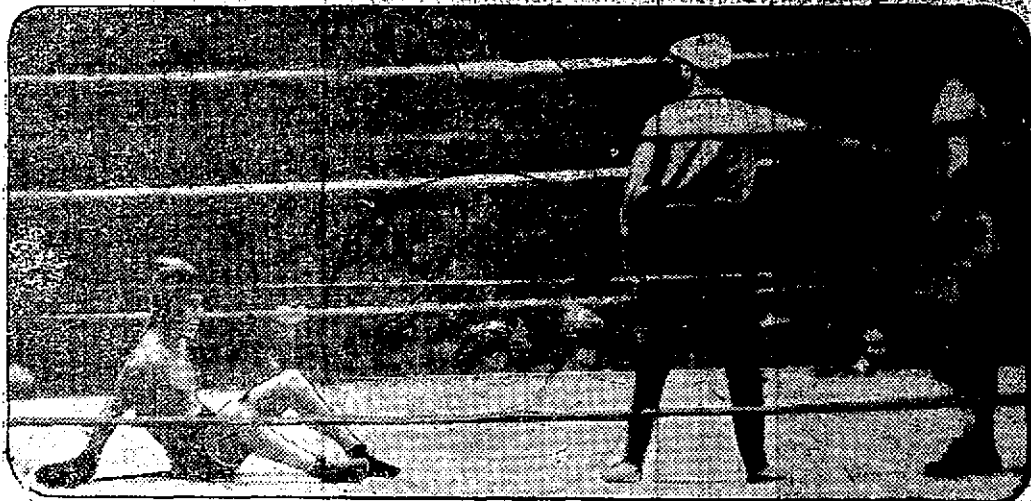

If Sarazen captures the open championship, he will be the first golfer ever to hold two national titles at the same time. He won the American open championship last year.

The degree of development of the game in the United States also will be shown this month. Further international championships will be made when the American public link championship gets under way in Washington June 26. Cities throughout the country will be represented by teams of four players.

General reports from golf clubs and links over the country indicate that many new aspirants to golf fame are being found. Kids especially are becoming interested in the game which five years ago was confined to John D. Rockefeller and a few others with sufficient funds to belong to clubs where the initiation fees roll up into real dollars.

The development of baseball and football in the United States is attributed largely to the interest of kids. Golf enthusiasts believe the result of the present "learn young" movement will assure this country future international championships of a progressively higher grade.

Knocked Down, But Wins Championship

This is a most unusual fight picture. Jack Bernstein is shown down for the count of nine in the third round of his fight with Johnny Dayzee for the junior lightweight title at New York. Bernstein arose before he was counted out and at the end of the 15-round battle was given the decision.

EARLHAM TO PUSH ATHLETICS AHEAD

New Gymnasium And Indoor Track Field Will Be Ready For The Opening of Fall Term

OTHER IMPROVED FACILITIES

College is Recognizing the Value of Intercollegiate Sports—New Coach is Hired

By HEZE CLARK
(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 6—Improved facilities for athletics and physical education will be offered to the students at Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., when the school reopens in September.

A new gymnasium to be known as the E. P. Trueblood indoor athletic field, will be built this summer. It has a basketball floor 60 by 90 feet and a running track around the floor. It will afford ample space for all indoor athletics.

For a third of a century, Prof. E. P. Trueblood has held a unique relation to athletics at Earlham with never flagging zeal urging on the teams of Earlham to ever greater things. He is known as "The Father of Earlham athletics." No wonder the new gymnasium was named in his honor.

Earlham recognizes the value of intercollegiate sports, and makes adequate provisions for them. Her recent victories in the meet at Earlham attest this fact. Earlham's athletes carry her colors into football, basketball, baseball, tennis and track.

During the coming school year physical education taught at Earlham will include not only intercollegiate athletics, but also intramural activities much after the fashion of Oxford, England and gymnasium work.

Ray Mowe, for years athletic director at the Quaker school has resigned to enter business. Norman G. Wann is the new director of athletics. Wann has crushed athletes at Wiley high school, Terre Haute, Rankin, Ill. high school; Ottawa University, Bethany Kansas college; Purdue university and James Milliken university. He leaves the latter university to go to Earlham.

Wann will have expert assistants in Miss Clara Comstock, instructor of girl athletes; R. Wayne Gill, a five letter man from Milliken university and Gustave Wier.

Giants Can't Draw Crowds

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 6—New York has always been a hard crowd town to figure. It is primarily an amusement seeking city, with assorted ideas on what is amusement. The same rules that hold in other big cities do not apply to New York. Professional football, which goes big in the middle-west, was a bust in New York where it was figured that anything would get a crowd. New York supports two six-day bike races a year, and they wouldn't draw any more than a laugh in any other big town.

Promoters who have been successful in New York generally work on the theory of "giving 'em a winner" in anything they like, but this does not always work, as is being shown now in the case of the New York Giants.

Manhattan fans have turned away from the Giants and are favoring the Yankees with their patronage. Considering that the Giants are world's champions and that in two world's series engagements they have made the Yanks look decidedly inferior, it is difficult to figure the change in heart.

If the main idea is to look at a winner, the Giants certainly ought to get more patronage at home than their American League rivals, because the Giants are not only the greatest team in the major leagues now, but many former players, managers and old fans regard McGraw's present team as one of the best balanced and greatest clubs of all times.

If the attendance had fallen off in the Yankee stadium as it has at the Polo Grounds this season, it would be plausible to figure that the New York fans were getting tired of championship teams, like the Philadelphia crowds did back in 1914, when poor business forced Connie Mack to break up one of the greatest teams of all times.

At one time, the American League club in New York was scoffed at and ridiculed and fans boasted that they were Giant rooters. The rapid partisanship began to slip away as soon as the Yanks got Babe Ruth, and now the same fans are just as rabidly boosting the Yanks.

The situation is a tough one for the Giants to figure. If they can't get the crowds with a winning team, they wouldn't care to risk the chances of a losing team, and there is no other Babe Ruth.

PAPYRUS WINS THE BRITISH CLASSIC

Finishes Length Ahead Of Pharos In Field Of 19 Starters In Epsom Downs Derby

ONLY ONE AMERICAN HORSE

Epsom Downs, England, June 6.—Papyrus won the 140th derby from a field of 19 starters today. Pharos was second and Parth third. Papyrus finished ahead by a length, with Donoghue on his back, it being the jockey's third successive victory in the classic.

The odds on Papyrus were 100 to 15 and on Pharos 10 to 1. The winner is owned by B. Irish and Pharos by Lord Derby M. Coudnas owned Parth. The only American owned entry was Fox Hall Koen's Top Boot. Town Guard, the favorite, was ridden by an American, Jockey Archibald.

The king and queen who customarily attend the derby were absent because of the illness of Princess Christiana. The Prince of Wales, however, was on hand.

Two of the horses entered were owned by women. They were Lady Nuburn Holmes' Portunna and Mrs. Bendir's Skias.

The betting fluctuated hourly up to the start of the race. During the night heavy support for Papyrus and Pharos put Town Guard in third position as favorite but later recovered and shortly before starting time he was quoted at 11 to 2 while Papyrus was next at 6 to 1 and Pharos third at 13 to 2, Parth being far down in the list at 30 to 1 to win.

Most of the tipsters avoided advising bets on Town Guard, despite his popular favoritism, due to sensational rumors that he had gone lame.

The Score Board

The Yanks staged a three run rally in the last of the tenth inning and stole a game from the White Sox 7-6.

Cole, pitching for Detroit, shut out Washington, and the Tigers won 3 to 0.

Rommel, the Athletic star, was ineffective, and the Browns got away with a 10 to 3 victory.

The Red Sox hit Uhle and Edwards hard and won from Cleveland 10 to 6.

Luque won his sixth consecutive victory when the Reds beat the Braves 7 to 1.

Pittsburgh jumped into undisputed possession of second place beating Brooklyn 5 to 2.

Jack Bently, the Baltimore money star, was knocked out again by the Giants made enough runs to win from the Cubs 8 to 3.

Death at the Steering Wheel

"Good heavens, Jim, you almost got that child!"
"Well, I didn't did I," snarled the man, at the wheel, pale and quaking. "Close thing, though, I'll say; but honest, I never saw her till she was nearly under, and if it hadn't been for this traffic jam just ahead—"

"Exactly," responded his friend in level tones. "You'd have been a murderer, no less; and all because you're too obstinate to get those wretched eyes of yours examined. You know that you can't see things down the street worth a cent!"

"That's my business," muttered Jim, resentfully. "That may be true when you are not driving your car," replied his friend, "but your record of four accidents in four months makes your eyesight the affair of everybody who has to use the streets."

"All nonsense! Why, I can read without any trouble—and if I can read I can drive!"

In the twinkling of an eye
Yet—four accidents had been marked up against him. The eternal effort to adjust shortsighted eyes to distance interfered with his ability to apply brakes and shift gears quickly. It cut down the swiftness and sureness with which his hands and feet responded to the brain message that cried "Stop!" Although he could read, he was incapacitated for safe driving.

Every second car you see is driven by a person who needs glasses; and probably every fifth car by one whose vision is so defective that he should never have been granted a license. Magistrate McAdoo of New York City declares that 60,000 people are injured by motor cars in that city every year. Over 1,000 a week in one city alone! "The toll of life and limb from automobile accidents in this city," he says, "is frightful."

How to remedy a condition so deadly
Why not begin with yourself? You, unconsciously, may be a menace to public safety. You can't be sure you aren't until you have your eyes examined. Don't wait for a law compelling every driver to have his eyes examined; before he is granted a driver's license. If you drive a car you owe it to yourself, to your family, to every other driver, and to every person who drives or walks on the street, to have your eyes examined today.

No Change in Children in 50 Years, Teacher Declares

Evanston, Ill., June 6—"Children have not changed in 50 years. They are no better or no worse than half a century ago."

That was the observation of Miss Celia Sargent today who retires after a record of 50 years of teaching.

During that time she taught 2,100 of Evanston's boys and girls. She kept the name and record of each in an ancient volume of ledger type.

"I have kept the pledge I made on my first day in the classroom to give my life to the youngsters of Evanston, and forgo marriage" Miss Sargent said.

Coalmont—Robert Chamberlain sustained severe injuries when he fell from the roof of his house where he was doing some repair work.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Marshall Otey Walker's attempts to find the red wheelbarrow had nothing on Indianapolis police today. They were asked to look for an Irish Mail, stolen from the garage of FRANK HORUFF.

and can be made one of the most beautiful parks, on account of its natural beauty and stream with its wonderful trees, in this country. By making a drive or boulevard on the east side of Hodge's branch, winding with a curvature of this small stream from where it enters off of Main street to the southwest by winding around the school site and terminating at Harrison or by going through to the upper end of Jackson and by the construction of a west and north boulevard or street entering from Main street, winding along the west and north side of Hodge's branch and winding through the park proper to Sexton street. Then the vacation of 11th street from Jackson street to Sexton street would make an unbroken park from Ninth street northeast along Hodge's branch to where it would enter Main street. A cross drive could be placed wherever it would be most beautiful, and to be in keeping with the park.

If this land were acquired it would be unnecessary to construct a storm sewer through it in what is known as Hodge's branch, which in the future would save many times the cost to the land. In fact it would have been cheaper for the city of Rushville at the time when Payne, Reeve and Allen laid out what is known as the new addition to have extended the present park down to the Big Four railroad and taken in all of the low land that was subject to overflow on each side of this branch as it would have saved the construction of a storm sewer at this time.

In fact in most cities now the city government is acquiring low land along small streams for parking properties because it is economical in the elimination of building storm sewers and in the case of the purchase of this tract of land, if it were ever laid out in lots, it would mean the building of bridges, the construction of a large sewer and a great expense in order to keep the purchaser of lots out of the overflow. Any one will always observe in going to city parks that they are generally located along a stream and that the stream is left open through them like Garfield park at Indianapolis, Christian Park west of Indianapolis and all the parks and boulevards are generally located about the same in every city as this park would be.

The school site alone would cost almost as much or more than the entire tract if purchased just across the street, as there are no vacant lots this large and located as this is.

Building Hasn't Slackened Like it Has in Great Many Cities

Indianapolis, Ind., June 6.—The slump in building operations reported in many cities throughout the country because of high wages for workmen and mounting cost of materials has not yet struck Indianapolis.

Local builders believe the peak has not yet been reached, and that construction will be carried on at top speed until winter weather calls a halt.

Each month's report on building permits shows an increase over the previous month, despite the fact that the city directory figures indicate more than 5,000 homes have been constructed since the present boom started.

Apartment construction is keeping pace with home building, and the percentage of fireproof buildings in process of erection is greater than ever before.

Home Life Menaced

Never in the history of the world has the life of the family as a social unit been menaced as it is today. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal rights with men, all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But alas, when a woman is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point, and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. Weak and ailing women will do well to remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it and let it help them.

IN MEMORIAM

KATE BRANAN INNIS

Kate Branan Innis was the daughter of James and Elizabeth Johnson Branan. Her father was a native of Limerick Ireland. He came to America in his early manhood, and later settled in Walker Township, in Rush County. Intelligent, industrious and ambitious his career as a Rush County farmer was eminently successful. He was a typical member of that class of progressive farmers who, in the last half of the Nineteenth Century, advanced this county from its pioneer standing to its proud position evidenced by its good schools, numerous churches, public buildings and excellent roads; and in this remarkable advancement, which made Rush one of the foremost counties of the state, James Branan and his devoted wife, who was a descendant of Rush County pioneers, did their full part.

Mr. Branan died not long after Mrs. Innis' marriage, and his highly improved home farm south of Homer was retained by her as long as she lived.

Mrs. Innis had two sisters, Mollie her twin, and Belle, who died about 28 years ago. Mollie married Bert Gruell, and died about 20 years ago, leaving an only child, a sweet little girl named Nelle on whom Mrs. Innis lavished the wealth of a great affection; but this little girl languished and died within a year, and a few years later her cup of family sorrows was filled by the death of her mother which left Kate the sole survivor of a happy family.

Mrs. Innis attended the Walker Township public schools and closed her school career at the Graham Academy at Rushville, but her education did not end there. She continued, to the last student, and enriched her mind by a general course of reading of the best books.

When a girl she joined the Methodist Church, and for the last thirty years was a member of the St. Paul's M. E. Church of Rushville, of which she was a devoted and dutiful communicant, and performed well her part in its manifold activities, and conscientiously directed her steps in the path laid out by the Master.

In 1892 she and Samuel L. Innis were married. This union was ended June 1st 1923 by her death. It was characterized throughout by sincere affection and perfect comradeship. Their home life was especially remarkable for the preservation of the old time hospitality which marked the pioneer days. At the Innis home the "latch string" was always out, just as it was in the days of their grandparents. In latter days, as a general rule, not only here, but everywhere, the old time hospitality has all but disappeared, because of its burdens on the housewife; but Mrs. Innis cheerfully assumed these added cares caused by complex civilization and in the thirty years of her married life probably entertained at her comfortable home more relatives, friends and acquaintances than were received at any other place in Rush county.

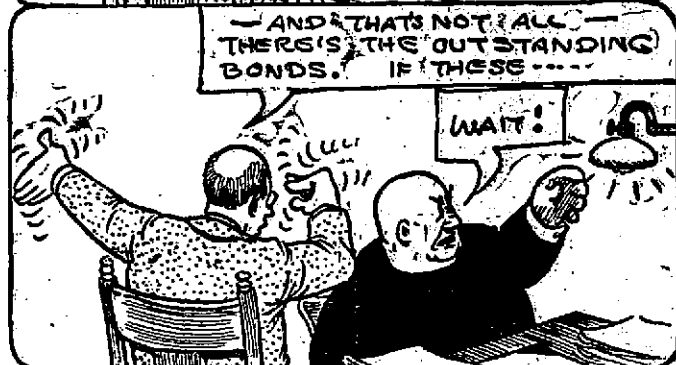

No one knew her well that did not continue her steadfast friend through life, and the recipients of her generous hospitality, with its culture and simplicity, hold in grateful remembrance the recollection of its social charms and pleasures.

Mrs. Innis had an unusually strong intellect, and her mind was thoroughly disciplined. Her perceptive faculties were quite acute, and she had a fine sense of humor, probably inherited from her fathers race—that never failed her. While she had a strong will, it was tempered by an ever present kindness and gentleness, and the recipients of her charity were much more numerous than the public knew.

All these qualities, added to her culture and refined modesty, made her a most entertaining conversationalist, and her presence at social

Star Caste At Princess

Allan Dwan, famous as the producer of "Robin Hood," has done remarkable work in his first Paramount picture, "The Glimpses of the Moon," adapted from Edith Wharton's novel, which will be the feature at the Princess Theatre, today and Thursday. With Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi, Ruby de Renner, David Powell, Maurice Costello and Charles Gerard in the cast and an exceedingly costly investiture, this picture is one of the most effective and elaborate screen society dramas thus far presented to the public. Director Dwan has produced "The Glimpses of the Moon" with the same lavish hand that fashioned "Robin Hood" for Douglas Fairbanks.

The Paramount studio was taxed to its capacity for this production. More than three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of properties consisting of costly jewelry, expensive hangings rare oil paintings, and antique furnishings were used to give the picture the rich flavor called for in Mrs. Wharton's novel. In the settings of wealth and splendor, made for this picture at heavy expense, Director Dwan has woven a dramatic story of the love of Susy Branch and Nick Lansing and the troubles they encounter in trying to keep pace with their millionaire friends. Mr. Dwan has transferred to the screen the picture of sophisticated society people in their highest and lowest moments which Mrs.

affairs was welcomed and sought by the legions of her friends.

Her life, hardened as it was with the sorrow of great family bereavements, was serene and beautiful, and was led by the kindly light to the very end; and in this spring of 1923, when this community has lost by death so many of its cherished members among them all no lovelier spirit than hers has passed from mortality to immortality.

Wharton so cleverly put between the pages of her book.

Recent revelations of prison conditions throughout the country made public in the newspapers and in books written by men who have investigated the facts, offer a timely subject for the motion picture screen. The matter is presented in particularly interesting narrative form in the Fox production, "Boston Blackie," starring William Russell, which will be shown at the Mystic today.

The film was adapted from the story by Jack Boyle, "The Water Cross." It deals with the punishment of prisoners by a method as torturous as any of the refinements used during the Spanish Inquisition. The water cross advocates tied a man upright against a wall with arms outspread and then turned a high pressure hose against his midsection. This treatment tore the tissues under the prisoner's flesh and disabled him for weeks, if not permanently. Just such inhuman handling of men has caused the searchlight of the press to be thrown on the cruelties still in practice in various prisons. Each community has its own penal problem to solve.

After an unusually exciting series of adventures, which include the pleasing performance of Eva Novak, Boston Blackie effects a prison reform that argues a convincing brief for humanitarian methods in American prisons.

Walker Gives Exact Details of Trouble

Declares Stomach Disorders, Headaches, Kidney Pains And Nervousness Were Entirely Overcome by Tanlac. Never Felt Better, He States.

"From the way we talk Tanlac in my barber shop, one would think it was a drug store," states Lee A. Walker, 16 N. 3rd St., Terre Haute, Ind.

"Every time I hear anyone mention medicine I tell them to get Tanlac and make no mistake. Before I took the treatment I had stomach trouble so bad and such a poor appetite I ate scarcely enough to keep me going. I also suffered from constipation, splitting headaches and pains in my back about my kidneys. My nerves were so shattered I couldn't get a good night's sleep and I simply felt weak and sick all the time.

"Well, sir, it took only five bottles of the Tanlac treatment to rid me of all my troubles. I eat hearty, sleep like a log, and can't remember the time I ever felt better than now. I always speak right out for Tanlac every chance I get."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

APPEALS MADE TO G. O. P. LEADERS

Want Influential G. O. P. Spokesmen in Minnesota Senatorial Primary And Election

FEAR REPUBLICAN SPLIT

May Pave Way For Strong Farmer-Labor Candidate, Magnus Johnson, Who May Win Nomination

(By United Press)

Washington, June 6.—Danger of a serious administration setback in the Minnesota senatorial primary and election has brought appeals to national republican leaders here to put influential administration spokesmen into the campaign in spite of Governor Preus.

Recent developments, however, have tied party leader hands, making it impossible to show the administration's preference for Preus over the Republican candidate.

The latest of these is the test suit to enjoin the special election Preus called. This has embarrassed administration political strategists who were trying to find out today whether the suit was engineered by Preus' friends as a means of permitting him to get by appointment to the senatorial seat which present indications are he can not win in the primary election.

What the administration is facing in Minnesota is a serious Republican split which may pave the way for a strong farmer-labor candidate Magnus Johnson, who now appears likely to win the nomination of that party.

Republican leaders are determined to win the seat. The election is by long odds the most important by-contested in years. It will show whether the wave that swept Shipstead into the senate and swept Kellogg out was a sudden phenomenon or the manifestation of a rising political tide. It will tell pretty accurately how a third party would stack up against the regular Republican organizations. It will determine whether the administration is to have its slender senatorial margin still further reduced or whether Minnesota will off-set Shipstead's so-called "radicalism" with the conservatism of a man like Preus.

Preus is the administration favorite. But indications this far in the primary campaign he is one of the weakest Republican possibilities. It is freely predicted that if he is nominated he will be beaten by Magnus Johnson.

Judge Oscar Hallam seems right now to be the strongest Republican because it is believed he could beat Johnson. Preus beat Johnson for the governorship last fall, but it was a close shave, and it seems to be "in the air" that if they look up in another contest Preus will come out second best. Johnson's friends have always been anxious about some features of that governorship election anyway.

Representative Sydney Anderson, another Republican is the dark horse. He may out-run both Hallam and Preus in the primary. And that simply adds to the worries of administration leaders.
